WHO WILL FOLLOW THIS NOTICE

This notice describes the privacy practices of PASSAVANT MEMORIAL HOMES FAMILY OF SERVICES, and all of its affiliates and other persons listed below (together, the "Provider" or "we").

- Any health care professional authorized to enter information into your medical chart on behalf of the Provider.
- All departments and units of the organization and its affiliates. All department and unit personnel of the Provider.
- Any member of a volunteer group we allow to help you while you are receiving care from the Provider.
- All employees, staff, Board Members and other personnel of Provider.
- All of these persons and entities follow the terms of this notice and may share protected health information with each other for treatment, payment or health care operations purposes as described in this notice.

OUR PLEDGE REGARDING PROTECTED HEALTH INFORMATION

We understand that protected health information about you and your health is personal. We are committed to protecting your protected health information. In order to provide you with quality care and to comply with legal requirements, we create a record of the care and services you receive from the Provider. This notice applies to all of the records of your care maintained by the Provider. Your other health care providers, such as your personal doctor, may have different policies or notices regarding the use and disclosure of your protected health information created and maintained in the doctor's own office or clinic.

(This information is proprietary and confidential. Any reproduction or unauthorized use is strictly prohibited.)

This notice describes the ways in which the Provider may use and disclose your protected health information. It also describes your rights and certain of the Provider's obligations regarding use and disclosure of your protected health information.

The Provider is required by law to:

- Safeguard your protected health information;
- Give you this notice of our legal duties and privacy practices with respect to your protected health information;
- Follow the terms of this notice as may be amended from time to time; and
- Notify you of any changes to this notice.

HOW WE MAY USE AND DISCLOSE PROTECTED HEALTH INFORMATION

The following categories describe different ways that we "use" and "disclose" your protected health information. Each category is followed by an explanation and in some instances an example. For purposes of this notice, the term "use" refers to protected health information that is used within the Provider for your treatment, the Provider's operations, or the payment of your care. The term "disclose" refers to protected health information that is given to outside entities for one of the purposes described in this notice. Whether your protected health information is used or disclosed, the use or disclosure will fall within one of the categories listed below and will be used or disclosed only in the minimal amount necessary to carry out the purpose. The term "may" means that the Provider is permitted under federal law to use or disclose this information without obtaining an additional or specific authorization from you to do so. Even though the Provider may be permitted to use or disclose information in a given instance, it does not mean that we will use or disclose the information. We will still try to assure that any use or disclosure is in your interest or is consistent with practices in the health care field.

For Treatment We may use and disclose protected health information about you to provide you with medical treatment or services. We may disclose protected health information about you to doctors, nurses, technicians, medical students, and the Provider's personnel who are involved in taking care of you at the Provider. For example, a doctor treating you for an injury may need to know if you have diabetes because diabetes may slow the healing process. In addition, the Provider may need to tell the dietician if you have diabetes so that the dietician can arrange for appropriate meals. Different departments of the Provider also may share protected health information about you in order to coordinate the different things you need. We also may disclose protected health information about you to people outside the Provider who may be involved in your medical care when you are absent from the Provider, such as family members, clergy, providers of day services, volunteers, Independent Support Coordinators, case managers, respite care workers and others we have engaged to provide services that are part of your care.

For Payment. We may use and disclose protected health information about you so that the treatment and services you receive from the Provider or other providers may be billed to and payment may be collected from you, the government, an insurance company or a third party. For example, we may disclose information to the county or state mental health and/or mental retardation agency in order to receive payments for your treatment. We may also tell your insurer or governmental payor about a treatment you are going to receive to obtain prior approval or to determine whether your plan or the government will cover the cost of the treatment.

For Health Care Operations. We may use and disclose protected health information about you for the Provider's operations or operations of another provider or payor. These uses and disclosures are necessary to run the Provider and make sure that all of our Individuals receive quality care. For example, we may use protected health information to review our treatment and services and to evaluate the performance of our staff in caring for you. We may also combine protected health information about many Provider Individuals to decide what additional services the Provider should offer, what services are not needed, and whether certain new treatments are effective. We may also disclose information to doctors, nurses, technicians, medical students, direct care providers, behavioral therapists, special therapists, and other Provider personnel for review and learning purposes. We may also disclose information in order to comply with our incident reporting requirements under state, local, or federal law. We may also combine the protected health information we have with protected health information from other providers to compare how we are doing and see where we can make improvements in the care and services we offer. We may remove information that identifies you from this set of protected health information so others may use it to study health care and health care delivery without learning who the specific Individuals are.

Health Care Quality Units and Other Quality Review Organizations. We may disclose information to the Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare, the Office of Mental Retardation, and other state and county mental health and mental retardation agencies through their appointed agents, including Health Care Quality Units and independent monitoring groups, in order to comply with Federal, state, and local laws and regulations.

Appointment Reminders. We may use and disclose protected health information to contact you as a reminder that you have an appointment for treatment or medical care at the Provider.

Treatment Alternatives. We may use and disclose protected health information to tell you about or recommend possible treatment options or alternatives that may be of interest to you.

Health-Related Benefits and Services. We may use and disclose protected health information to tell you about health-related benefits or services that may be of interest to you.

Fundraising Activities. We may use contact information, such as your name, address and phone number, and the dates you received treatment or services from the Provider to contact you and your family members in an effort to raise money for the Provider. We may disclose this contact information to a foundation related to the Provider so that the foundation may contact you and your family members in raising money for the provider. If you do not want the Provider or the foundation to contact you or your family members for fundraising efforts, you must notify the Privacy Officer in writing.

Provider Directory. We may include certain limited information about you in the Provider directory while you are a Individual of the Provider. This information may include your name, location at the Provider, your general condition, and your religious affiliation. The directory information, except for your religious affiliation, may also be released to people who ask for you by name. Your religious affiliation may be given to a member of the clergy, such as a priest or rabbi, even if they do not ask for you by name. This is so your family, friends and clergy can visit you at the Provider and generally know how you are doing.

Individuals Involved in Your Care or Payment for Your Care. We may disclose protected health information about you to your family members, your personal friends or any other person identified by you, but we will only disclose information that we feel is relevant to that person's involvement in your care or the payment for your care. If you are feeling well enough to make decisions about your care, we will follow your directions as to who is sufficiently involved in your care to receive information. If you are not present or cannot make these decisions, we will decide based on whether we believe it is in your best interest for a family member or friend to receive private health information and how much information they should receive. Obviously, we are inclined to provide greater information to close family members than to friends.

We may also disclose information to disaster relief agencies or to family, friends or others in an effort to locate or identify family members or personal representatives.

Research. Under certain circumstances, we may use and disclose protected health information about you for research purposes. For example, a research project may involve comparing the progress of all Individuals who received one therapy to those who received another, for the same condition. All research projects, however, are subject to a special approval process. This process evaluates a proposed research project and its use of protected health information, trying to balance the research needs with Individuals' need for privacy of their protected health information. Before we use or disclose protected health information for research, the project will have been approved through this research approval process, but we may, however, disclose protected health information about you to people preparing to conduct a research project, for example, to help them look for Individuals with specific medical needs, so long as the protected health information they review does not leave the Provider. In certain situations, we are required to ask your specific permission, such as when the researcher will have access to your name, address or other information that reveals who you are, or will be involved in your care at the Provider.

As Required By Law. We will disclose protected health information about you when required to do so by federal, state or local law. For instance, the Provider is obligated to report to public health officials the occurrence of certain communicable diseases or acts of violence. Additionally, the Provider is required to report certain incidents to the Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare.

To Avert a Serious Threat to Health or Safety. We may use and disclose protected health information about you when necessary to prevent a serious threat to your health and safety or the health and safety of the public or another person. Any disclosure, however, would only be to someone able to help prevent the threat.

Day Providers. We may use and disclose information about you if necessary to facilitate your application for admission to, or use of, day programs such as supported employment and sheltered employment.

Residential Facilities. We may use and disclose information about you if necessary to facilitate your application for admission into, or use of, residential facilities.

In-home Services. We may use and disclose information about you if necessary to facilitate your application for, or use of, in-home services.

Family Living Arrangements. We may use and disclose information about you if necessary to facilitate your application for admission into, or use of, family-living arrangements.

Supports Coordinators. We may use and disclose information about you as necessary for supports coordinators and case managers to complete their duties for you.

Transfers. We may use and disclose information about you to another health care provider to which you are being transferred or which is considering you as a transfer.

Employers. We may use and disclose information about you to an employer or prospective employer in connection with your application for, or continuation of, employment.

SPECIAL SITUATIONS

Organ and Tissue Donation. If you are an organ or tissue donor, we may release protected health information to organizations that handle organ procurement or organ, eye or tissue transplantation or to an organ donation bank, as necessary to facilitate organ or tissue donation and transplantation.

Military and Veterans. If you are a member of the armed forces, we may release protected health information about you as required by military command authorities. We may also release protected health information about foreign military personnel to the appropriate foreign military authority.

Workers' Compensation. We may release protected health information about you for workers' compensation or similar programs. These programs provide benefits for work-related injuries or illness. Under the privacy regulations, workers' compensation claims are exempted from coverage, and thus we may release protected health information about you to your employer for workers' compensation purposes.

(This information is proprietary and confidential. Any reproduction or unauthorized use is strictly prohibited.)

Public Health Risks. We may disclose protected health information about you for public health activities. These activities generally include the following:

- to prevent or control disease, injury or disability;
- to report births and deaths;
- to report child abuse or neglect;
- to report reactions to medications or problems with products;
- to notify people of recalls of products they may be using;
- to notify a person who may have been exposed to a disease or may be at risk for contracting or spreading a disease or condition;
- to notify the appropriate government authority if we believe a Individual has been the victim of abuse, neglect or domestic violence. We will only make this disclosure if you agree or when required or authorized by law.

Health Oversight Activities. We may disclose protected health information to a health oversight agency for activities authorized by law. These oversight activities include, for example, audits, investigations, inspections, and licensure. The federal government has determined that it must have access to this information to adequately monitor beneficiary eligibility for government programs (for example, Medicare or Medicaid), compliance with program standards, and/or civil rights laws.

Lawsuits and Disputes. If you are involved in a lawsuit or a dispute, we may disclose protected health information about you in response to a court or administrative order. We may also disclose protected health information about you in response to a subpoena, discovery request, or other lawful process by someone else involved in the dispute, but only if appropriate efforts have been made to tell you about the request or to obtain an order protecting or limiting the information requested.

Law Enforcement. We may release protected health information if asked to do so by a law enforcement official:

- In response to a court order, subpoena, warrant, summons or similar process;
- To identify or locate a suspect, fugitive, material witness, or missing person;
- About the victim of a crime if, under certain limited circumstances, we are unable to obtain the person's agreement;
- About a death we believe may be the result of criminal conduct;
- About criminal conduct at the Provider; and
- In emergency circumstances to report a crime; the location of the crime or victims; or the identity, description or location of the person who committed the crime.

Coroners, Medical Examiners and Funeral Directors. We may release protected health information to a coroner or medical examiner. This may be necessary, for example, to identify a deceased person or determine the cause of death. We may also release protected health information about Individuals of the Provider to funeral directors as necessary to allow them to carry out their duties.

National Security and Intelligence Activities. We may release protected health information about you to authorized federal officials for intelligence, counterintelligence, and other national security activities authorized by law.

Protective Services for the President and Others. We may disclose protected health information about you to authorized federal officials so they may provide protection to the President, other authorized persons or foreign heads of state or conduct special investigations.

Inmates. If you are an inmate of a correctional institution or under the custody of a law enforcement official, we may release protected health information about you to the correctional institution or law enforcement official. This release would be necessary (1) for the institution to provide you with health care; (2) to protect your health and safety or the health and safety of others; or (3) for the safety and security of the correctional institution and those responsible for your transportation from one facility to another.

(This information is proprietary and confidential. Any reproduction or unauthorized use is strictly prohibited.)

DISCLOSURES REQUIRING AUTHORIZATION

- Psychotherapy Notes. With limited exceptions, the Provider must obtain your authorization for any use or disclosure of your psychotherapy notes.
- Marketing. The Provider must obtain an authorization for any use or disclosure of your protected health information for marketing, except if the communication is in the form of (1) a face-to-face communication made by the Provider or a physician of the Provider to you, or (2) a promotional gift of nominal value.
- Sale of Protected Information. The Provider must obtain your authorization prior to receiving direct or indirect remuneration in exchange for your health information; however, such authorization is not required where the purpose of the exchange is for:
 - Public health activities;
 - Research purposes, provided that the Provider receives only a reasonable, cost-based fee to cover the cost to prepare and transmit the information for research purposes;
 - Treatment and payment purposes;
 - Health care operations involving the sale, transfer, merger or consolidation of all or part of a Covered Entity and for related due diligence;
 - Payment that is provided by the Provider to a Business Associate for activities involving the exchange of protected health information that the Business Associate undertakes on behalf of the Covered Entity (or the subcontractor undertakes on behalf of a Business Associate) and the only remuneration provided is for the performance of such activities;
 - Providing you with a copy of your health information or an accounting of disclosures;
 - Disclosures required by law;
 - Disclosures of your health information for any other purpose permitted by and in accordance with the Privacy Rule of HIPAA, as long as the only remuneration received by the Provider is a reasonable, cost-based fee to cover the cost to prepare and transmit your health information for such purpose or is a fee otherwise expressly permitted by other law; or
 - Any other exceptions allowed by the Department of Health and Human Services.

YOUR RIGHTS REGARDING MEDICAL INFORMATION ABOUT YOU.

You have the following rights regarding protected health information we maintain about you:

Right to Inspect and Copy. You have the right to inspect and copy protected health information that may be used to make decisions about your care. Usually, this includes medical and billing records, but does not include psychotherapy notes.

(This information is proprietary and confidential. Any reproduction or unauthorized use is strictly prohibited.)

To inspect and copy protected health information that may be used to make decisions about you, you must submit your request in writing to the Privacy Officer. If you request a copy of the information, we customarily charge a fee for the costs of copying, mailing or other supplies associated with your request.

We may deny your request to inspect and copy in certain very limited circumstances. If you are denied access to protected health information, you may request that the denial be reviewed. Another licensed health care professional chosen by the Provider will review your request and the denial. The person conducting the review will not be the person who denied your request. We will comply with the outcome of the review.

Right to Append and Amend. If you feel that protected health information we have about you is incorrect or incomplete, you may ask us to append or amend the information. You have the right to request an amendment for as long as the information is kept by or for the Provider; however, we are not required to amend the information. If we do not agree to amend your information, you may add a supplemental statement to your records indicating why you believe the information should be changed. We will append or otherwise link your statement to your records.

To request an amendment, your request must be made in writing and submitted to the Privacy Officer. In addition, you must provide a reason that supports your request.

We may deny your request for an amendment if it is not in writing or does not include a reason to support the request. In addition, we may deny your request if you ask us to amend information that:

Was not created by us, unless the person or entity that created the information is no longer available to make the amendment; Is not part of the protected health information kept by or for the Provider; Is not part of the information which you would be permitted to inspect and copy; or Is accurate and complete.

Right to an Accounting of Disclosures. You have the right to request an "accounting of disclosures." This is a list of several types of the disclosures we made of protected health information about you.

To request this list or accounting of disclosures, you must submit your request in writing to the Privacy Officer. Your request must state a time period which may not be longer than six years and may not include dates before February 26, 2003. Your request should indicate in what form you want the list (for example, on paper, electronically). The first list you request within a 12-month period will be free. For additional lists, we may charge you for the costs of providing the list. We will notify you of the cost involved and you may choose to withdraw or modify your request at that time before any costs are incurred.

Right to Request Restrictions. You have the right to request a restriction or limitation on the protected health information we use or disclose about you for treatment, payment or health care operations. You also have the right to request a limit on the protected health information we disclose about you to someone who is involved in your care or the payment for your care, like a family member or friend. For example, you could ask that we not use or disclose information about a surgery you had.

In most circumstances, we are not required to agree to your request. If we do agree, we will comply with your request unless the information is needed to provide you emergency treatment. You do, however, have the right to restrict disclosure of your protected health information to a health plan if the disclosure is for the purpose of carrying out payment or health care operations and is not otherwise required by law, and the protected health information pertains solely to a health care item or service for which you, or someone other than the health plan on your behalf, has paid the Provider in full.

To request restrictions, you must make your request in writing to the Privacy Officer. In your request, you must tell us (1) what information you want to limit; (2) whether you want to limit our use, disclosure or both; and (3) to whom you want the limits to apply, for example, disclosures to your spouse.

(This information is proprietary and confidential. Any reproduction or unauthorized use is strictly prohibited.)

Right to Request Confidential Communications. You have the right to request that we communicate with you about medical matters in a certain way or at a certain location. For example, you can ask that we only contact you at work or by mail.

To request confidential communications, you must make your request in writing to the Privacy Officer. We will not ask you the reason for your request. We will accommodate all reasonable requests. Your request must specify how or where you wish to be contacted.

- Right to Be Notified of a Breach. You have the right to be notified by the Provider and the Provider shall notify you by phone, mail or similar means, if there is a breach which affects the confidentiality of your unsecured protected health information.

Right to a Paper Copy of This Notice. You have the right to a paper copy of this notice. You may ask us to give you a copy of this notice at any time. Even if you have agreed to receive this notice electronically, you are still entitled to a paper copy of this notice.

OTHER USES OF PROTECTED HEALTH INFORMATION.

Other uses and disclosures of protected health information not covered by this notice or the laws that apply to us will be made only with your written authorization. If you provide us permission to use or disclose protected health information about you, you may revoke that permission, in writing, at any time, with such revocation being effective once received by the Provider; however, such revocation shall not be effective to the extent that the Provider has taken any action in reliance on the authorization, or if the authorization was obtained as a condition of obtaining insurance coverage, other law provides the insurer with the right to contest a claim under the policy or the policy itself. If you revoke your permission, we will no longer use or disclose protected health information about you for the reasons covered by your written authorization, except as otherwise mentioned herein.
